The Daily Courant.

Tueſday, June 8. 1708.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 12.

Strasbourg, June 1.

OUR Army is now between this City and Fort-Louis, waiting for the Bavarian and other Troops from the Netherlands, which are arriv'd near Gottesheim, and will be here the 3d Inſtant, when (as 'tis rumour'd) the whole Army will paſs the Rhine on ſome Deſign that is kept very ſecret. The Troops which ſome Days ago went over the Rhine at Kehl, deſtroy the product of the ground quite down to Raſtad.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated June 12.

Fribourg, June 2. The Enemy's Horſe, which came and encamp'd at Willſtadz near Offenbourg, under M. de Vivans, retir'd ſome Days ago. Part of them have repaſs'd the Rhine; and the reſt are march'd towards Raſtad. In the mean time the Imperial Regiments which were poſted near St. Pierre in the Black Forreſt, continue there; but 'tis ſaid they expect Order to decamp and joyn the Army.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 12.

Spiers, June 5 The French are in Motion from Lauterburg and Weyſſenburg, in which they have left ſmall Garriſons: 'Tis reported they will paſs the Rhine, and joyn the Body under M. de Vivans at Raſtad. The reſt of the French Troops are between Fort-Louis and Strasbourg, waiting for 8 Battallions with 3 Regiments of Horſe and 2 of Dragoons from Burgundy, to ſupply in part the Room of the Detachment ſent to the Saar.

From the Bruſſels Gazette, dated June 12.

Francfort, June 6. The Baron de Gortz, Preſident of the Chamber of the Elector of Hanover, ſet out from hence the 3d Inſtant to meet his Electoral Highneſs, who arriv'd Yeſterday Morning at Fridtberg, din'd there, and at Night lay at Volbel, which is a Town of the Archbiſhoprick of Mentz within a League of this Place, where he ſtill continues: But 'tis ſaid he will come hither to Morrow incognito, and from hence go to Hocht, where he will have a Conference with the Elector of Mentz, and with Prince Eugene of Savoy who is expected Poſt from Vienna; and then his Electoral Highneſs will go the Army on the Upper Rhine. The Regiments of Hanoverians which Winter'd in the Weſterwald, are on the March to paſs the Main here, where they are expected to Morrow, in Order to proceed to the Army of the Empire. General Thungen continues encamp'd with that Army at Muhlberg, except ſome Troops which he has left in the Lines near Etlingen. Some Days ago a French Captain deſerted from the Enemy on Account of a Quarrel with another Officer, ſwum croſs the Rhine near Daxland, and preſented himſelf before Count Hohenzollern, who caus'd him to be conducted to General Thungen. He reported, that the Elector of Bavaria had review'd the Enemy's Army, which he ſays is very ſtrong and provided with a numerous Artillery, and with a Bridge of Boats and a great Number of Barks laden with Proviſions, Ammunition, and Implements of War. The Body under M. de Vivans which was encamp'd between Sundtheim and Goldſchwer at a little Diſtance from Kehl is advanc'd between Lichtenau and Schwartzach; and 'tis rumour'd that the Enemy's Army will take the Camp between Coppenheim and Raſtad behind the Murch, where the Marſhal de Villars lay long encamp'd towards the End of laſt Campaign. The Enemy have caus'd the Roads towards Gengenbach to be repair'd, as tho' they deſign'd to make an Irruption into the Valley of Kintzich. General Thungen keeps a watchful Eye on their Motions, and has caus'd more Cannon to be convey'd from hence to his Camp. 'Tis talk'd, that now the City of Hamburg has accepted the Imperial Commiſſion, the Duke of Wolfembuttel will ſend 2 more of his Regiments to the Army on the Upper-Rhine.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 12.

Francfort, June 6. The Report that paſs'd of the Enemy's Foot had paſs'd the Rhine in 3 ſeveral Places to joyn the Body under M. de Vivans, is not confirm'd. We now hear, that their Army is mov'd up towards Strasbourg, in order to paſs th Rhine at Fort Kehl; and that the Elector of Bavaria will leave a Body of 15000 Men near Strasbourg, to be ready to March to the Moſelle in Caſe of Neceſſity. The Saxon and Heſſian Troops, which lately paſs'd the Rhine and halted in the Neighbourhood of Creutznach, continue there, waiting for freſh Orders to proceed on their March to the Moſelle.

Francfort, June 7. The Elector of Hanover arriv'd here to Day; and deſiring to be incognito, was not receiv'd with the uſual Honours and Ceremonies.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated June 12.

Triers, June 4. We are under Apprehenſion that M. de St. Fremont, who is encamp'd about Saar-Louis with a Body of Forces, will come into our Neighbourhood, to conſume the green Forrage. The Commiſſary of Saar-Louis has commanded the Bailliages of Grimbourg and St. Wendel to furniſh him with 1500 Palliſadoes, 4500 Faſcines, 5000 Stakes, 100000 Weight of Hay, and 2000 Quintals of Oats. The French work hard on the Fortifications of Fort St. Martin.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 12.

Coblentz, June 7. There are yet but few Troops of the Allies come to the Camp at Gunterſhauſen in the Hondſruch. The Marquis de St. Fremont, Lieutenant-General, who came lately to Homb urg with a Detachment of 15 Battallion and 25 Squadrons of the Army of Alſace commanded by the Elector of Bavaria, is come forward to Saar-Louis, and has already form'd there an Army of 35 Battallions and 53 Squadrons, by reinforcing his own Detachment with Troops out of ſeveral Garriſons. He gives out, that he will come down the Moſelle, to make Head againſt the Allies, till the Arrival of the Duke of Berwick, to whom he is to reſign the Command in Chief of the ſaid Army.

From the Bruſſels Gazette, dated June 12.

Cologne, June 8. The Baron de Bernſau Grand Commiſſioner of this Archbiſhoprick, and the Baron de Goudenau, are gone to Coblentz, to compliment Prince Eugene of Savoy at his arrival there, on the Part of our Metropolitan Chapter. Yeſterday paſs'd through this City a Courier from the Duke of Marlborough, with Letters for Prince Eugene. They write from Coblentz, that the Troops appointed to form the Army on the Moſelle, are filing towards the Camp of Gunterſhauſen in the Hondſruch. The Countries of Cologne, Juliers, and Bergues, are to furniſh furniſh a certain Number of Horſes and Waggons for that Army.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated June 12.

Advice from the lower Rhine of the 8th of June, tell us, that the Palatine Troops which are marching towards the Moſelle are in Number 11000 Men. That Day 2 Battallions of Imperialiſts paſs'd the Rhine near Rhens, in their Way towards the Moſelle. M. de St. Fremont has extorted a great Quantity of Forrage from all the Bailliages about Saar-Louis, that he may thereby deprive the Allies of Means to ſubſiſt themſelves.

From the Camp at Terbank, June 11. The 9th Inſtant Baron Daudignie's Regiment of Spaniſh Dragoons march'd towards Ghent, where they will joyn the 3 Engliſh Battallions lately landed, and together with ſome others to be drawn out of our Garriſons, will form a Body, to be commanded by Major-General Murray, for obſerving any Motions the Enemy may make in Flanders. The 2 Armies continue ſtill in their former Camps.

Shields, June 4. Two Days ago here arriv'd from the Southward the Norwich, and under her Convoy a Fleet of light Colliers: Return'd ſeveral tranſports from Flanders that went with the Forces from hence.

Yarmouth, June 4 This Day came in from the Southward a Fleet of light Colliers, (which with what were here before make 150 Sail;) under Convoy of her Majeſty's Ships Foulkſtone and Feverſham and the Merlin Sloop.

Deale, May 6. There are in the Downes her Majeſty's Ships Noneſuch, Edenburgh, and Vulcan Fireſhip, the Salamander, Carcaſs and Star Bomb-Veſſels, and 4 Ships Tenders on the ſaid Bomb-Veſſels, a Store-Ship for Barcelona and 7 Sail of Tranſports. Juſt now came in her Majeſty's Ship Lyme.
